Silobreaker

First Party Intelligence

Protect your assets and brand from risk

With the average cost of a data breach sitting at more than $4 million, the security of your organization's data and digital assets has never been more important.

The Silobreaker Intelligence Platform

The Silobreaker intelligence platform provides the capabilities needed to detect and alert on exposure across the open, deep and dark web, ensuring that your business, assets and brand reputation are protected.

Monitor for digital asset exposure
Receive alerts upon detection of your digital assets, from IPs and domains to credentials and credit cards. With full context into sourcing and results across millions of sources, your team can investigate and act quickly, reducing the impact of exposure.

Detect and prevent brand abuse
Protect your brand by monitoring and triaging typosquatting incidents, brand abuse events and executive impersonation. Your team can receive alerts, view images of offending sites and request takedowns from a single platform.

Mitigate attacks and reduce risk
Staying ahead of bad actors means understanding how they operate. Pick up on new fraud techniques and tactics as well as insider threats across multiple channels, enabling you to mitigate attacks early.
