

Geopolitical and Physical Risk Intelligence

Understand the impact of geopolitical and physical risks

In our interconnected world, global events can have both immediate and long-term effects on business security and operations. From political unrest to natural disasters, understanding the shifting geopolitical landscape is a crucial step towards safeguarding assets and maintaining business continuity.

The Silobreaker Intelligence Platform

The Silobreaker intelligence platform provides comprehensive geopolitical intelligence to help you navigate risks, seize opportunities and remain resilient in the face of uncertainty.

Monitor threats around your areas of operation

Stay aware and ahead of local incidents that could impact daily operations; from protests and violence to transport disruption and inclement weather. Our powerful analytics and timely reporting allow your team to respond to evolving risks proactively.

Comprehensive regional and event monitoring

Monitor regional change with comprehensive tracking of elections, conflicts and political instabilities, coupled with up-to-date risk ratings. Provide your business with a cohesive picture of regional risk that enables informed decision-making.

Anticipate change with geopolitical forecasting

Harness in-depth scenario forecasting to understand and prepare for geopolitical shifts that may affect your global operations. Enable your organisation to see the bigger picture and more effectively plan and address strategic business risk.

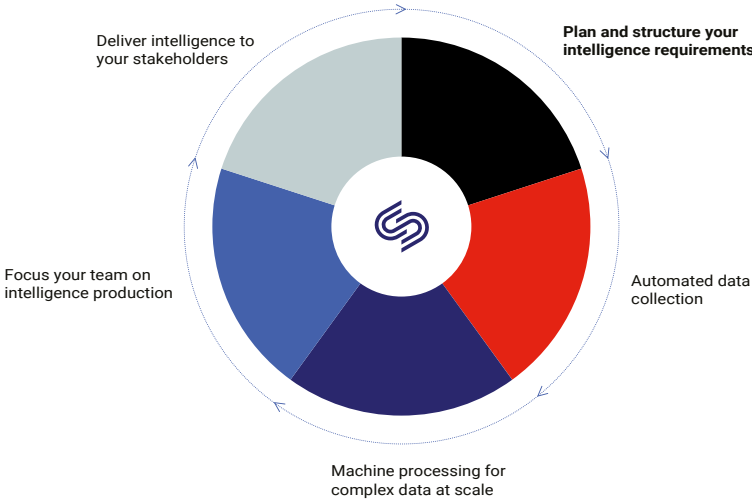

Capabilities

- Comprehensive OSINT collection including local news coverage in 21 languages with real-time alerting
- Geopolitical forecasts based on probabilistic modelling of events
- Situation reports, analyses and briefings, and hundreds of curated, geo-tagged incidents per day
- Location risk with in-depth scoring by country, updated as risk environments change
